COMPLAINT:
STRAIGHTEN CUTTER BAR

CORRECTION:

removed the cutter bar, removed a few guards and stone dams. tried to heat and straighten the cutter bar that had already been heated before. reassembled the head and ran it. the cutter bar was rubbing on the guards. i tried to straighten it some more and was able to get it close but it was still rubbing and creating heat. called the customer with an estimate and he said to replace the cutter bar, sickle bar, and necessary parts. removed the sickle bar, stone dams, guards, and hold downs. removed the cutter bar and install the new one. reinstall parts and replaced damaged ones. assembled the new fine tooth sickle and installed it. ran the head and adjusted the hold downs. Spoke with the customer about breaking several sickle bars in the same spot on the drive side of the head. Added 4 additional sickle bar hold downs. Ran the head again and adjusted the hold downs one more time.
